

The Press is the Official Paper of the United States for the State of Kentucky and the Southern portion of Indiana and Ohio.

A WORD TO ADVERTISERS.

Circulation is rapidly increasing, which renders the Press one of the best advertising mediums in the State. We hope our friends will send in their advertisements.

OUR AGENTS.

Chas. L. Wedding, Atty. at Law, 100 N. Third St., Louisville, Ky.
J. M. Peck, Editor, 100 N. Third St., Louisville, Ky.
J. M. Peck, Editor, 100 N. Third St., Louisville, Ky.
J. M. Peck, Editor, 100 N. Third St., Louisville, Ky.

Postmasters of Divisions, Brigades, or Regiments can have the daily Press furnished them in Camp at an early hour in any quantity by leaving their orders at our office the day previous. A liberal discount made to dealers.

For a few days past there has been a diminution in the number of soldiers on the streets and places of public resort. As they are discharged and paid off they shake with commendable alacrity the dust of the city from their boots and depart for rural homes, where pickpockets, and insatiable, avaricious clothing dealers are unknown. Where there is a happy absence of vigilant patrol, and many a pair of eyes are turned to them in a more satisfactory manner than they merit here.

The Typographical Dramatic Association of Philadelphia, a few days since, presented to Mrs. F. Mordaunt, wife of the popular actor of that name, a costly photographic album, made to their order. They aided them in their late dramatic entertainment, at the Academy of Music in that city, before the delegates to the National Typographical Convention, and would receive no pay for her services. The Association adopted this means of showing their appreciation of her kindness. The presentation was made by the stage manager, Mr. John M. Perry, and received for the lady by her husband, each party making a neat little speech on the occasion.

The wheat harvest in Southern Illinois and Indiana has commenced. Our exchanges from that section speak of the yield as enormous, and the quality as unsurpassed by the crops of any previous year. To add to the satisfaction of the farmers, the weather has been so favorable as they could desire, and the new crop has been harvested in the very best condition. From all parts of the country we have the same glowing reports of the yield of corn and oats will be more than an average return; and fruit has never promised a more prolific yield. This, therefore, is likely to be a year of plenty, and a cornucopia overflowing with abundance.

THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY.—This remarkable narrative, by the author of "The Two Admirals," and subsequently transferred to our columns, attracted more general attention and commended itself to the public for a long time. It is now republished in separate form, by general desire, and at a price (ten cents a copy), which will give it universal circulation at this season. Ticknor & Fields, Boston, are the publishers.

PAY OF THE SOLDIERS.—An average sum of ninety thousand dollars has been required to pay off each regiment at present encamped in the vicinity of this city. There are upwards of two hundred regiments here, and according to the above estimate, it will take eight millions of dollars to pay them off.

ARRIVED.—The advance of Sherman's supply train, that came from Washington overland, arrived in Jeffersonville yesterday afternoon. There were two or three hundred wagons, and a number of thousand loose mules. Each wagon had for a driver a genuine contraband from Georgia or one of the Carolinas.

A lot of drunken soldiers got into a row on the corner of Preston and Lafayette streets last evening. For a time it was quite lively about there, and the rowdies and clubs flew through the air in a terrible manner. The guard, appeared, however, and quelled the disturbance and arrested the rioters. We noticed among the drunkest of the lot a couple of Lieutenants.

WOOD'S THEATRE.—The audience at Wood's Theatre last night were well pleased with the entertainment. The drama is well got up and most of the scenes are very funny. We advise all to go and see the drama of the Seven Sisters. A matinee will be given on Saturday afternoon. The Seven Sisters will be produced again this evening.

The Dayton Journal understands that the Short Line railroad from that city to Cincinnati, is to be constructed under the auspices of the New York Central railroad company, and that the Eastern connection will probably be made via the Sandusky road, perhaps at Clyde, so that Cincinnati will eventually have two direct connections East.

The Union men of Christian county have nominated William Brown, Esq., as their candidate for the Legislature. Mr. Brown is an unconditional Unionist, and could not be coaxed or driven into secession by Magnolia, Breckinridge & Co. He deserves a large majority vote from all Christians, and will no doubt get it.

THE CHURCH AND MEXICAN.—The stay of the great show in the city for two days. All who have not visited the entertainment should do so soon. A special matinee for ladies and children is announced for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

RESPIRED.—Marshall P. Stewart who was sent to be hung at the same time John Lewis was executed, but was respited for thirty days. We learn that a large amount of testimony in his favor has been brought forward, and it is possible that he may have a new trial.

DISGRACEFUL.—Last night about dark five drunken soldiers behaved in a very disgraceful manner on Jefferson street, between Brook and First. They knocked down every soldier who came near them, and learned of several children being severely injured by the drunken ruffians.

HELD TO RAIL.—Henry C. Burnett was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000 to appear before the United States Circuit Court in October next.

ROBERTY.—Two brothers in Beyerback's tavern, at the corner of Preston and Jefferson streets, were robbed yesterday—one of $10 and the other of $5. We heard of no arrests being made.

VACATION SCHOOL.—We would respectfully call attention to the advertisement of Mr. S. P. Browder, who proposes to establish a vacation school in the Seventh Ward. Mr. Browder has a good reputation as a teacher, and will give entire satisfaction.

Gen. Rousseau speaks at Shelbyville on Monday, the 10th inst., at the Union men of Shelby rally around the general. Rousseau will give him a good audience, and he will make it tell.

THE FOLLOWING GENERAL ORDER, No. 106, dated June 6, 1863, answers all communications of reference to the release of prisoners of war, "not above the grade of captain."

A circular was issued June 17, directing all citizens prisoners to be released, against whom there were no charges upon which they could be brought to immediate trial.

ORDER FOR THE DISCHARGE OF CERTAIN PRISONERS.

General Order No. 106.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, June 6, 1863. The prisoners of war at the several depots in the North will be discharged under the following regulations and restrictions:

I. All enlisted men of the rebel army, and petty officers and seamen of the rebel navy, will be discharged upon taking the oath of allegiance.

II. Officers of the rebel army, not above the grade of captain, and of the rebel navy, above the grade of lieutenant—except such as have graduated at the U. S. Military or Naval Academies, and such as held a commission in either the U. S. Army or Navy at the beginning of the rebellion, may be discharged upon taking the oath of allegiance.

III. When the discharges hereby ordered are completed, regulations will be issued in respect to the discharge of officers having higher rank than captain in the army or lieutenant in the navy.

IV. The several commanders of Prison Stations will discharge each day as many of the prisoners hereby authorized to be discharged as proper rolls can be prepared for, beginning with those who have been longest in prison, and from the most remote points of the country; and certified rolls will be forwarded daily to the Adjutant General of Prisoners of the War.

The oath of allegiance only will be administered, but notice will be given that all who desire will be permitted to take the oath of amnesty after their release, in accordance with the regulations of the Department of State respecting the amnesty.

By order of the President of the United States: E. D. TOWNSEND, Assistant Adjutant General.

WINESKY.—The name of this well known article is derived from the Celtic usquebaugh. The lexicographers say it is a corruption of the latter word. It sounds like a name of a wine, and in fact it is. It has been a powerful agent in human society. It is destined to play a conspicuous part in the finances of the country hereafter. It is looked to with confidence as a source of large revenue, and so, as a mighty help in paying off the national debt. It seems to be taken for granted that people will continue to drink it, and that the demand for it will be in the human stomach as high as in the human stomach.

THE UNITED STATES SERVICE MAGAZINE FOR JULY.—The publisher, Charles B. Richardson, 516 Broadway, N. Y., has just issued the July number of the United States Service Magazine. It is a very interesting and valuable publication, and is well worth a subscription. It contains a great deal of interesting and valuable information, and is well worth a subscription.

Hon. Alvin Duval and R. R. Bolling have been appointed to collate all the rules of the Court of Appeals, of Kentucky, and present them to said Court when it convenes in September next, so that they may be revised and corrected for the convenience of the Court and the members of the bar.

Hon. William Sampson, of Glasgow, Barrister at Law, Ky., is at the Justice.

Joshua F. Speed having declined the canvass for Representative in the Lower House of the Kentucky Legislature, the delegates to the District Convention, called by the Union party in the Second Legislative District, to meet at the residence of Mr. J. A. Ballard, at 8 o'clock, on Saturday evening, July 18th, at 8 o'clock, to make another nomination for Representative.

The Charleston correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says there are no elements in South Carolina out of which to construct a State; nothing but disloyal slaves and traitor blacks, neither being good material.

LOUISVILLE THUNDER.—The engagement of Miss Kitty Blanchard is drawing to a close. To-night is her last appearance here; on which occasion she appears in the French Spy. We noticed among her many friends to turn out on the occasion.

NEW THEATRE.—By reference to our advertisement of the 10th inst. it will be seen that a dramatic company will open at Masonic Temple on Monday night for a short summer season.

Dennison University, Ohio, has conferred the degree of LL. D. upon Major General J. D. Cox. The people will be another degree upon Doctor Cox in October next.

M. Dumas seems to have forgotten his promised visit to this country. He is engaged in lecturing, and has, of course, made a sensation.

It is a curious fact that President Johnson was married at Greenville, Tennessee, by Mordecai Lincoln, Esq., a distant relative of late President.

There will be a meeting of the General Council to-night, at which fourteen additional policemen will be elected.

Rudolph Borstein was arrested yesterday for selling officer's clothing to private soldiers. He was sent to Barracks No. 1.

The number of emigrants who arrived in New York from Europe last week was 5,500, and estimating the value of each one to the capital of the country at $1,500, the average emigration was worth $8,250,000. The average of money, specie, brought by emigrants this year has been $20 per head, so that the 5,500 emigrants of last week added $330,000 in coin to our stock of specie. Before a month more of this kind of work, earning wages and producing wealth, and thereby helping to support the Government and pay the interest on the debt.

As a proof of the commercial value and importance of the new aniline colors, and estimating the value of each one to the capital of the country at $1,500, the average emigration was worth $8,250,000. The average of money, specie, brought by emigrants this year has been $20 per head, so that the 5,500 emigrants of last week added $330,000 in coin to our stock of specie. Before a month more of this kind of work, earning wages and producing wealth, and thereby helping to support the Government and pay the interest on the debt.

Letter from Hopkinsville, Ky.

(Correspondence of the Union Press.)
HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., July 3, 1863. Immediately after the discussion, in this place, between Judge Yeaman and Mr. Ritter, I addressed you a communication containing my views on the whole affair. Why it failed to appear you can inform your readers, should you see proper to give this a place in your columns. [It was not received.]

At present, with the speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

The speech of Judge Yeaman, delivered at Henderson, before the people, it is not worth while to enter into the merits of the discussion. It will be sufficient to say that his effort here excelled that one, and that no ordinary report could do him justice. Mr. Ritter failed to answer any important issue; and what was worse, attempted to make a case upon the merits of his opponents, rather than the strength of his own case. And, what was worse still, he attempted to bring a new issue in his last reply, when he knew the Judge could not answer, and that, too, by Navy from a bearing of the whole affair.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REGULAR MIDNIGHT REPORT.

Official Order in Regard to the Assassins.

Diabolical Attempt to Destroy the Cherokee.

New Railroad Lines in the Northwest.

Asylum for Soldiers and Sailors.

Admiral Dupont's Bequest of $175,000.

Cavalry Expedition Against Hostile Indians.

Miscellaneous News from Washington.

Efforts for the Release of Mrs. Surratt.

Subscription to 7-30 Loan $3,015,000.

Gold Closed Yesterday at 139 3-8.

Order from the War Department—The Convicted Assassins to be Hung.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The following important order has just been issued: The General Order, No. 106, dated June 6, 1863, commanding Middle Department, Washington: Whereas by the military commission appointed in paragraph No. 4, special orders No. 24, dated War Department, Adjutant General's Office, May 18th, 1863, of which Major General D. W. Tilden, United States volunteers, is president, the following persons were tried and sentenced as hereinafter stated, to wit:

1st. David E. Harold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except combining, confederating and conspiring with Edward Spangler, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he combined, confederated and conspired with Edward Spangler, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said David Harold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

2d. George A. Atzerott. Finding of the specification—guilty, except combining, confederating and conspiring with Edward Spangler, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he combined, confederated and conspired with Edward Spangler, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said George A. Atzerott, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

3d. Lewis Payne. Finding of the specification—guilty, except combining, confederating and conspiring with Edward Spangler, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he combined, confederated and conspired with Edward Spangler, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Lewis Payne, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

4th. Mary E. Surratt. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which she is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that she received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which she is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence her, the said Mary E. Surratt, to be hanged by the neck until she be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

5th. Michael O'Laughlin. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Michael O'Laughlin, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

6th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

7th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

8th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

9th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

10th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

11th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

12th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

13th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

14th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

15th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

16th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, as to which he is not guilty. Sentence—And the commission, therefore, sentence him, the said Samuel Arnold, to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, at such place and at such time as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the members of the commission concurring therein.

17th. Samuel Arnold. Finding of the specification—guilty, except as to the receiving, entertaining, harboring and concealing Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, to which he is not guilty. Of the charge, guilty, except as to words of the charge, that he received, entertained, harbored and concealed Saml. Arnold and Michael O'Laugh

